Civil Rights Group Faces Dixie Revolt

Alabama Officials Balk At Orders To Testify On Voting

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Defiant Alabama officials, already subpoenaed, had a challenge today to answer before the Civil Rights Commission charges by Negroes that they have been deprived of voting rights.

Neither Chairman John A. Hannah nor Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey would say on the eve of the federal commission's first hearing whether it might seek court orders to force the appearance of officials from six counties.

They did declare at a news conference Sunday night that the commission has received a substantial number of complaints — more from Alabama than from any other state — that Negroes have been denied access to the ballot box because of race.

They said they hoped that the county officials would appear with their records as subpoenaed last week to answer the charges.

Hannah said the hoped-for hearing could be completed in two days but would be prolonged if necessary.

Wholesale resistance to bringing records before the commission appeared to be building up over the weekend. The records in Barbour and Bullock counties have been impounded by Circuit Judge George Wallace. He said he would defy a subpoena to produce them and arrest any commission agent trying to take them from his custody.

The files of Dallas, Lowndes and Wilcox were turned over to grand juries for what was described as state investigations of the same complaints made to the federal commissions.

The other county is Macon, where there are six times as many Negroes as whites but only half as many Negro voters as whites. State Atty. Gen. John Patterson, governor-elect, has instructed Macon County officials not to surrender voter records to the commission.

One of the six commission members is a Negro, J. Ernest Wilkins of Chicago, an assistant secretary of labor.

Mystery In Trucker Deaths Probed By Missouri Police

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP) — Three farm tractors from Malvern, Ark. truck drivers, weary from the long drive from central Arkansas to this north Missouri village, went to sleep in a truck stop bunkhouse. All three of them died there.

Why? At this stage, no one knows.

Coroner Bryce Norman said the first victim apparently died of a heart attack. Autopsies on the bodies of the other two were inconclusive. Tissue samples will be tested by state police.

The chain of death began Friday, when 24-year-old Louis Lee Warden of Little Rock pulled into Lancaster with a truckload of

Will Report To Ike Humphrey To Tell Khrushchev Secrets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) will report to the State Department today and President Eisenhower Tuesday morning on two “secrets” told him by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev “relating to items of our security” he said today.

Humphrey also will give the President a private message given him during an unprecedented eight-hour conversation with Khrushchev during the senator's unofficial visit to Moscow.

The Democratic senator arrived here by plane from London at 8:20 a.m. and left at 10 for Washington. He said he would meet with Undersecretary of State Christian Herter at 4 p.m. today and with Eisenhower at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Humphrey said he discussed nuclear tests suspensions both with Khrushchev and with the Soviet's chief delegate at the Geneva negotiations and that Khrushchev “seemed to show some willingness for a meaningful agreement with effective inspection controls.”

Talks With Kuznetsov

Humphrey said he talked in Geneva for one and one-half hours with Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov “and I came away feeling that we are making some progress. We actually discussed points where the Soviet Union might be willing to negotiate, and I indicated where we might be willing to negotiate.”

Humphrey said he felt there was less chance of agreement on the Berlin situation, but indicated that chance would be enhanced if the Western powers would present a solid front on the Berlin situation.

He urged foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany meet “as soon as possible to arrive at a completely unified and coordinated program and policy on Berlin. We cannot afford to leave a single loose thread.”

He said he believed that in the Berlin situation and other international issues under negotiation “the Soviet Union is attempting to probe the Allies to see if there is disunity or weakness.”

The victims were identified as Annie Pearl, 6, Lillie, 4, Charlie Jr., 2, and Mary, three months.

Reich Reds' Defeat Brings New Threat

West-Reds' Geneva Talk At Dead End

Warning Given By U. S. Delegate On Cooperation Need

BULLETIN

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Russia agreed today that the 10-nation talks on prevention of surprise attack have reached a dead end.

There was no sign, however, that the four-week-old talks would be broken off immediately.

GENEVA (UPI) — The West warned today that it cannot go “any further” unless the Soviet bloc agrees to cooperate in the deadlocked four-week-old surprise attacks conference.

U.S. delegation chief William C. Foster sounded the warning signal in a major speech before the conference.

It was the first formal alert that the conference was in its death throes.

Says Stand Unchanged

The Soviet delegation chief, First Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov, at once took up Foster's challenge and made it clear that the Soviet stand remains unchanged.

Foster, speaking on behalf of the Western delegations at the 10-nation conference, appealed to the Soviet bloc for a response to the West's concrete proposals on a working plan.

The West has offered five detailed outlines on various surprise attack detection and prevention measures.

The East rejected them all. Today it turned down the latest Western plan for ground controls against a Korea-type surprise attack by land forces.

Today's Soviet bloc move followed its earlier rejection of Western plans for a broad international detection system against surprise attack from long range bombers and missiles.

The meeting broke up again in total deadlock.

Bogus Money Boost Shown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Christmas shopping season has brought a larger than usual increase in counterfeit money this year.

Leftist Holds Vote Margin In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — After 10 years of exile and outlawry, ex-President Romulo Betancourt and his leftist Democratic Action party held a big lead today in returns from Venezuela's first free election since the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

With more than a fifth of the votes counted, unofficial returns from the voting Sunday gave Betancourt 302,368, Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal 27,633 and Rafael Caldera 134,770.

Betancourt's party came to power in the 1945 revolt which threw Gen. Isaias Medina Angarita.

Larrazabal, 47, was head of the junta which ruled the country after the ouster of Perez Jimenez last January. He was the candidate of the Democratic Republic Union and also accepted the Communist party's endorsement.

Caldera, 42, a lawyer and labor expert, leads the Christian Socialist party (Copei).

Pope John Must Wait For Crown Due To Mistake

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII is going to have to wait awhile for the new gold crown citizens of his native Bergamo province are giving him. A mistake was made in the design.

The crown was to have been presented today.

It was not disclosed just what was wrong with the design. The crown is made of 500 grams of gold, decorated with amethysts, emeralds, coral and chiseled figures of saints, martyrs and other religious figures. Artist Attilio Nani made it on commission from the Bergamo provincial government.

Army Gets Data In Pioneer Shot

Correct Troubles That Thwarted First Lunar Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a second space shot ahead, Army scientists set out today to correct troubles that thwarted their first effort to hurl a tiny package of instruments into orbit around the sun.

At the same time, they raked the experiment a success in measuring the depth of man-poisoning radiation around the earth.

The space probe Pioneer III — first of two assigned to the Army — met its flaming end over North Africa Sunday afternoon.

Fired aloft by a four-stage rocket early Saturday, the 13-pound cany reached an announced peak altitude of 36,551 miles before falling back and burning in the terrific heat generated by atmospheric pressure. All told, it was 38 hours and 6 minutes in flight.

The Army's Pioneer III didn't get as far into space as did the Air Force's best effort Oct. 11. Revised figures showed the Air Force's Pioneer I reached 71,300 miles. Two other Air Force moon rockets failed soon after takeoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla., which also was the site of the Army launching.

The Air Force now has used up all three space probes allotted to it for the present at least. It sought to send a somewhat heavier satellite than the Army's into orbit around the moon, which is some 220,000 miles from the earth.

The Army's intent with Pioneer III was to pass the moon and perhaps go into orbit around the sun, which is some 93 million miles away.

The Army wasn't saying publicly just when it would try again. But Maj. Gen. John P. Medaris, chief of the Army missile command, said another shot is at least a month off. “See me after Christmas,” he told interviewers on a television program.

Failure of the Air Force's Pioneer I to reach the vicinity of the moon was attributed in part to a higher — than — planned trajectory. Another reason cited was insufficient rocket thrust.

Little Rock's Vote Divides School Board

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The deadlock over desegregation here remained unbroken today following an inconclusive election in which three businessmen opposed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus won seats on the Little Rock School Board.

Faubus charged the three were integrationists who had worked against his successful bid for a third term in last summer's election.

Three others elected to the School Board had the implied backing of the governor.

Seemingly split on the degree of resistance to integration, the new board soon will have to cope with an uncompromising federal order for “affirmative steps” toward racially mixed classes in public schools.

All 13 candidates for the six board seats had professed to be segregationists. Their differences centered on the price.

“This is the first crack in the Faubus edifice and I predict that his entire political empire, founded as it is upon misrepresentation and bigotry, will soon be crumbling at his feet,” asserted Ted L. Lamb, an advertising executive who defeated two staunch segregationists in a three-way race.

But Amis Gulbridge, attorney for the pro-segregation Capital Citizens Council analyzed the voting this way: “Our people took the election for granted and refused to run scared.”

School Fire Toll Now 92 As Boy Dies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago's tragic parochial school fire claimed its 92nd life today with the death of a 9-year-old boy burned over 80 per cent of his body.

Kurt Shult died early this morning at Edgewater Hospital where doctors had employed the city's only artificial kidney in an effort to save his life.

The boy showed some improvement when the artificial kidney helped eliminate poisons from his body to maintain the fluid balance, doctors said, but the combination of burns and complications proved too much.

Kurt's mother, Dorothy, 32, who had been at her son's side almost constantly since he was hospitalized, was at his bedside when he died.

Meanwhile, authorities began the painstaking task of questioning about 500 survivors in hopes of turning up some clue to last Monday's fire at Our Lady of the Angels Roman Catholic school.

Washington Star Resumes As Guild Accepts New Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Evening Star resumed an expanded Monday edition, complete with Sunday supplements, today following settlement of a three-day strike of editorial and commercial employees.

The paper had published only a limited edition Friday, and none Saturday or yesterday, because of the strike called by members of the American Newspaper Guild. Most mechanical workers had refused to cross the picket lines.

Settlement of the strike was reached yesterday with a compromise calling for higher wages and a slightly reduced work week. Federal mediators helped work out the agreement, which later was ratified by the striking employees.

The three-year contract calls for increases of $4 to $7 a week for the first year, $2 to $3 for the second year and $2 to $4 for the third year. The $14 weekly increase for reporters and photographers over the three-year period will raise the present top minimum of $127 a week to $141, compared with a $140 figure now paid by the Washington Post.

The agreement cuts 15 minutes from the regular work day effective Feb. 1, and another 15 minutes a year from now, when employees will start working a 37½-hour week of five 7½-hour days.

Berlin Vote Rebuff For Khrushchev

Red Premier Aims Blockade Warning To Western Allies

BERLIN (UPI) — A massive vote against Communism by the people of West Berlin touched off new Communist threats today and a veiled warning by East German Premier Otto Grotewohl that Western troops face a land and air blockade if they try to remain in the city.

Barely 12 hours after the Communists' smashing defeat in the West Berlin city elections Grotewohl went before the Communist zone parliament to claim West Berlin as part of East Germany. He said that Allied troops are “unjustly and illegally” stationed “on the territory of the German Democratic Republic.”

“The (Communist east zone) government will be in a position to exercise sovereignty on the land, on the water and in the air,” Grotewohl said.

Ignored Municipal Balloting

He ignored the West Berlin municipal balloting which gave a rousing and emphatic “no” to a Soviet proposal that Western Allied troops leave Berlin and West Berlin be turned into a demilitarized “free city” surrounded by Communist bayonets.

The Russian demands were his main issue in Sunday's record voting, and the emphatic rejection gave the Western Allies a clear mandate from the people of West Berlin to reject the Red demands.

Grotewohl said the West Berlin City Council elections were not a plebiscite on Soviet demands that the Western Allies quit the city — the view also taken by the Communist press. Until recently, when he expected the Communists to gain, he had said just the opposite.

Addresses Parliament

Grotewohl was making a speech presenting his government to the new East German parliament and outlining its future program.

Grotewohl said the West Berlin voting could not justify the continued presence of foreign forces there, although the voting was overwhelmingly in favor of maintaining Allied troops in West Berlin.

It was a massive vote of confidence for Socialist Lord Mayor Willy Brandt who declared, “West Berliners have said that never and at no time will they bend under the yoke of Communism.”

West Berliners voted in record numbers in what had been called a referendum on the Soviet proposals to drive the West out of Berlin, and 98.1 per cent of them rejected the Kremlin plan.

The Communists received only 1.9 per cent of the ballots and. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Algeria Bloc Gets Setback By de Gaulle

ALGIERS (AP) — French Premier Charles de Gaulle has put another damper on the hopes of French extremists in Algeria who have called for the territory's speedy integration with France.

Ending a five-day tour of Algeria and the Sahara, de Gaulle called Sunday night for the realization of “liberty, happiness and dignity” for Algeria's nine million Moslems before any political settlement.

In a recorded three-minute speech broadcast as he left by plane for Paris, he also avoided saying he will integrate Algeria politically and economically with France.

“Every man and every woman here should have their liberty, their happiness and their dignity,” the Premier said.

“As this is being done, we will see much better revealed the living personality of Algeria on the one hand, and on the other the nature of things which unite it with France.”

“It is when this is done that the so-called political solution will appear, practically and reasonably.”

His remarks indicate he intends to go ahead with his ambitious five-year social and economic development plan before trying to solve Algeria's political problems.

De Gaulle's tour of the new Sahara oil and natural gas fields brought to light new estimates of their recoverable reserves, which now are expected to supply France with vital fuel for 80 years.

Dulles Improves, Doctors Find No Trace Of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is hospitalized with an intestinal ailment. But his doctors say they find no evidence of a recurrence of cancer.

The State Department said Dulles, 70, was in satisfactory condition at Walter Reed Army Hospital, undergoing treatment for an inflammatory condition of the lower colon. His temperature was reported normal.

The doctors' finding that no cancer was involved was reported by the department Saturday night, when it disclosed for the first time that Dulles had entered the hospital 24 hours earlier.

Truman Keeps Hands Off Scramble By Democrats

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination contest is so wide open at this time he hasn't any idea who the winner will be.

Truman, who backed Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for the 1956 nomination which went to Adlai E. Stevenson, said he is keeping hands off in the scramble at this point.

"We have got a lot of good young men in the party who would make fine candidates, and I don't want to do anything to hurt the chances of any of them," Truman said in an interview.

While Truman's support is not likely to be decisive, the former President's backing might provide the impetus needed for one of several individual aspirants to forge ahead in what now appears likely to be a closely bunched field of contenders in 1960.

The prospect that several may arrive at the July 1960 convention with about equal strength revived speculation at weekend Democratic meetings here of the possibility of a third nomination to Stevenson.

Stevenson himself merely repeated his recent statement that he won't be the nominee. And Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, said he thinks the party's 1952 and 1956 standard-bearer would be a "very reluctant dragon" so far as a third race is concerned.

Nevertheless, Arvey said he is not ruling out the possibility the convention might turn to Stevenson.

Legion Head Hits M'Elroy

DENVER (AP)—The national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said Sunday Defense Secretary Neil McElroy should resign in favor of "someone who would keep the armed services at strength."

John W. Mahan, a Helena, Mont., lawyer, said McElroy's latest order to cut military manpower "is an affront to Congress."

He said McElroy's order of a 71,000 man reduction by June is at odds with Congress' recommendation that the Marine Corps be maintained at 200,000 men and the Army at 900,000.

"If we stay prepared, we'll stay at peace," he said. "If we don't stay prepared, we'll go to war."

Mahan spoke at the annual Founders' Day banquet of the John S. Stewart VFW Post No. 1.

Berlin Vote

this from the labor district of "Red" Wedding which was known as a Communist stronghold even in the days of Adolf Hitler. The Communist vote was smaller than in the 1954 elections and again was too tiny to win a seat in the City Council.

West Berlin lies 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain and is surrounded by Communist East Germany, dominated by 22 Soviet divisions and the East German Army. The Brandenburg gate separates it from East Berlin, now claimed as the capital of the Communist German republic.

The anti-Communist fervor of West Berlin's record 1,604,787 voters—93.1 per cent of the electorate—was so great that they swept all except the two great anti-Communist parties out of the city parliament.

Where the city parliament formerly had an opposition of 19 liberals, it now had 78 Social Democrats (socialists) and 55 Christian Democrats who see eye-to-eye on the vital issues which command the attention of West Berliners.

All other parties failed to get the 5 per cent of the vote necessary to win a seat.

The building of monasteries did not originate with the Christian world.

Baby Sitter Arrested By FBI For Kidnaping

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Washington infant who disappeared Saturday with her new full-time baby sitter was found unharmed Sunday night with the young woman who had taken her along on a second baby-sitting job.

The FBI charged the baby sitter with kidnaping. Police identified her as a former mental patient.

Ten-month-old Victoria DeLosh disappeared from her parents' home with Mrs. Dolly Zirk, 20, hired only Friday to care for her.

The FBI, in announcing Mrs. Zirk's arrest, said she had accepted a second baby-sitting job after starting to take care of the DeLosh child. She told the second employer the child was hers and was given permission to bring her along.

Mrs. Zirk was found at the second employer's home Sunday night with the DeLosh girl. The FBI said the second employer knew nothing about the child's disappearance.

The FBI said the woman and the baby were found in Mt. Rainier, Md., a Washington suburb.

Dr. Addison M. Duval, assistant superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital here, said Mrs. Zirk was admitted to the mental institution last March and listed as being a psychotic but not dangerous. He said she walked away from the hospital Aug. 25 and turned up at the home of her father in Clearville, Pa. The hospital agreed to leave Mrs. Zirk in her father's custody, Duval said.

Police said Mrs. Zirk is separated from her husband who has custody of their baby.

Mrs. DeLosh had expressed fear Mrs. Zirk "is using my baby as a substitute for her own."

Parson Unlocked For Leaving Wife

YORK, England (UPI)—The York Archdiocese announced Saturday it has unlocked the Rev. J. H. Stokes, an Anglican country parson who deserted his wife for a 21-year-old typist he "met in connection with Sunday school work." The girl's mother said Stokes and Ann Johnson are still living together.

Invention of the rocking chair is attributed to Benjamin Franklin about 1760.

Talbot County Pulls Surprise Air Raid Alert

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Talbot County Civil Defense officials decided to stage a surprise air raid alert last night on the 17th anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

Only five persons knew about the alert before the sirens sounded throughout the Eastern Shore county at 6:30 p.m. The all clear came 30 minutes later.

Richard W. Hill, county CD director, said the alert was only partially successful. He said a communications failure prevented notification of several auxiliary CD leaders.

Fire departments and police agencies and the State Roads Commission responded well, Hill said.

It was the first air raid alert in the county in two years.

Institutions of religious orders were known to the ancient Egyptians and to the Jews before the Christian Era.

WAGE BOOSTER — Leon Keyserling

former chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers, has come out in favor of lifting the federal minimum wage level to at least $1.25 an hour. It is presently at $1. At least a fourth of the nation is living in absolute poverty, Keyserling says.

Two Schools, Restaurant Hit By Fires

Baltimore Institution Interior Destroyed; Hampstead Damaged

By The Associated Press

Weekend fires destroyed one Baltimore schoolhouse and damaged another. A third blaze swept through a restaurant at Jessup and caused damage estimated at $55,000.

Firemen fought the fire in Hampstead 18th Junior High School for about an hour yesterday. The blaze was confined to a classroom and teacher's room of the three-story brick building. Investigators said they had not ruled out arson.

Fire Lt. Willard Wachling climbed through a window and fell through a hole in the floor that was obscured by heavy smoke. He escaped serious injury by grabbing a pipe.

Interior Destroyed

A more serious fire swept through an 81-year-old South Baltimore elementary school Saturday. The six-alarm blaze destroyed the wooden interior.

An arson inspector said the fire apparently began in a defective electric motor which was part of the heating system.

School officials said classes for the school's 500 pupils will be held in other nearby elementary schools.

Nearly 200 firemen from 11 communities fought the Saturday fire which destroyed the restaurant on Maryland 172 near the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

The fire apparently started in the first floor dining area in a corner of the three-story building, State Police said.

Hay Barn Destroyed

Fires in Baltimore County yesterday destroyed a hay storage barn near the Chattahoochee Elementary School in Pikesville and left a family of nine homeless when a five-room frame house in Woodlawn burned to the ground.

Cpl. Elmer L. Cole said he talked with three juveniles who admitted causing the barn fire when they played with a cigarette lighter.

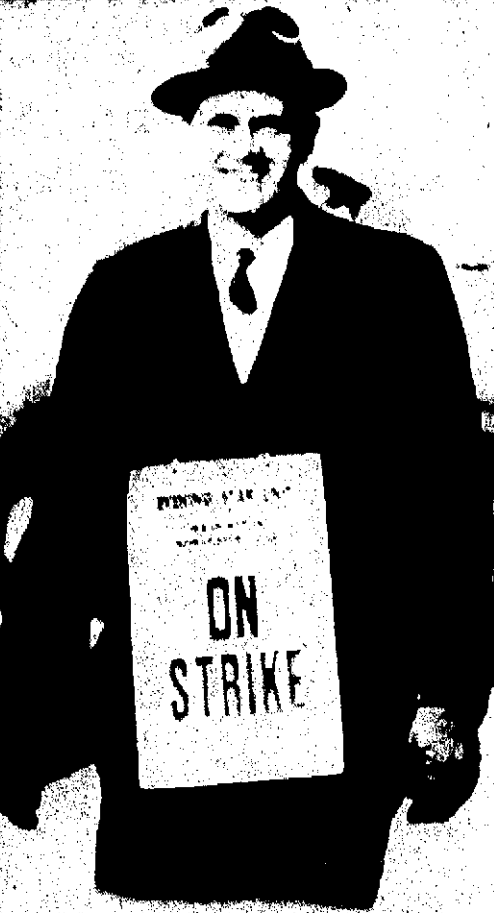

Mrs. Virginia Scott and her eight children were left homeless by the house fire which firemen said apparently started in the kitchen. No one was home at the time.

Airline Offers New Group Rate

Allegheny Airlines has received permission from the Civil Aeronautics Board to provide a 33 1/2 per cent discount to groups of ten or more passengers making round trips between numerous points on the company's routes, D. L. Miller, vice president of traffic and sales has announced.

The group travel discount applies to group travel between any city on Allegheny's 10-state system and the major educational, cultural, convention cities of Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Buffalo and Atlantic City.

Under the new fare plan, travel by a minimum group of 10 must be round trip and must be completed within a period of five days from departure date.

FOLEY PICKETS — Congressman-elect John R. Foley (D-Md.)

wears a Washington Newspaper Guild strike sign in the picket line around the Evening Star over the weekend. Foley, a Kensington, Md., attorney, said he was not passing on the merits of the dispute. He said the strike was an exercise of constitutional rights. "They asked for public support and I gave it to them," Foley said. The strike was settled yesterday. (AP Photosfax)

Metal Products Sales Down In '58

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A 15 per cent drop in metal-working sales was predicted by Steel Magazine today, but most observers expect 1959 to show improvement over the current year.

Steel said sales this year will total just under 120 billion dollars, a decline of about 15 per cent from the 1957 record of 140 billion dollars.

The national weekly magazine said plants which make metals or metal products are now in transition from a period of economic hesitation to a new era of prosperity.

Steel said most observers expect 1959 to be a better year than 1958, with an upturn taking place early next year when automakers will know how new models are going over.

If auto sales are reported bullish, more steel will be needed and flat-rolled inventories are expected to climb from the current 23-day level to 30 days.

Meanwhile, key automotive suppliers have expressed optimism that their business with motor dom will be 20 per cent higher next year.

Automakers received their first good report on the 1959 models last week with sales for the middle third of November (nine selling days) totaling 140,000 cars.

The daily average of 16,200 cars was 38 per cent higher than that of the first third of the month (11,740 autos). Some auto industry spokesmen predict 1959 will be a 5.5 million car year, with extreme estimates reaching 6.8 million.

Another reason why '59 is expected to show improvement is the prediction that the metalworking industry should win 4 per cent more government work, pushing the defense volume to 41 billion dollars in fiscal 1959 and go up 2.4 per cent to over 42 billion dollars in 1960.

But the picture isn't completely rosy in the industry. Steel said the outlook for independent tool and die shops in Detroit is bad with an average of two shops per week going out of business.

Steelmaking operations climbed a half point last week to 74.5 per cent of capacity and production was about 2,011,000 net tons.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis led the gain, climbing 3.5 points, but Wheeling showed a drop of five points.

Careless smoking and matches caused 127,000 fires in the United States in a single year.

LEXINGTON PARK, Md. — Members of a 50-man search party found them early Sunday afternoon. Two Navy men, who got off course while hunting deer and dropped anchor for the night in some woods, were found yesterday by a search party.

AES Donald Shearer, 21, of Springfield, N. Y., and AN Robert Zible, 19, of Red Wing, Minn., both stationed at Patuxent Naval Air Station, were lost in the woods more than 24 hours before they were located.

They built a lean-to and a fire and sat down to await sunrise.

New Actress Scorns Jeans, Sloppy Attire

Susan Kohner Is Picture Of Neatness, Glamor

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's hope for the younger generation of film actresses, after all. Here's one who scorns blue jeans, slacks and other sloppy attire.

Recently in this space, Richard Arlen fired a blast at the current female stars who dress like slob in public. Dick would be delighted with Susan Kohner, a bright young talent who is the picture of neatness and glamor wherever you see her.

How did she feel that way? "I guess it was partly my training in school," she said. "I was in a private school where we had a daily inspection to see if our nails were clean, shoes were polished and dresses were neat."

"For another thing, I knew and admired all the great glamor queens of the movies as I was growing up. Stars like Marlene Dietrich and Joan Crawford. They were guests in our home. And I never saw them when they weren't beautifully groomed."

You may wonder how Susan was exposed to all this glamor. Her father is the topflight movie agent Paul Kohner. Her mother is Lupita Tovar, star of Mexican and Hollywood films.

Susan came to lunch beauty attired, though her style was 70 centuries old. She is playing her most impressive role to date, the feminine lead as an Arab princess in "The Big Fisherman."

Papa Kohner is Susan's agent. She said that's both a help and a hindrance.

"It's nice to have an agent who is so enthusiastic," she remarked. "But sometimes his enthusiasm gets a little too big, and I have to temper it somewhat."

Another drawback, she said, can be with producers who have known her since she was an infant and can't get used to the fact that she is a grown-up 21-year-old actress.

Susan has risen through summer stock and TV plays to become an accomplished actress. Her work with Lana Turner in "Imitation of Life" is drawing raves.

And she's neat, too.

SCORNS SLOPPY ATTIRE—Actress Susan Kohner, all dressed up for her role as the feminine lead in "The Big Fisherman," scorns blue jeans, slacks and other sloppy attire. She says her training as a child in a private school for girls had something to do with her desire for neatness. (AP Photos)

Writer Gives Advice On Hospital Visiting

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The do-good visitor to the hospital sometimes is bad medicine for the patient.

I bring this up because statistically about 23 million persons are hospitalized annually, which means many more times that total in visitors, and because having illness in my own family recently, there has been ample time to observe visitors and their bedside manners.

This column is meant to be written with kindness, and with the desire to help both the patient and the visitor.

Sure, call on the hospitalized patient. He or she welcomes company, unless the doctor orders otherwise and the "no visitors" sign is out. My personal observation is that a little company does a lot to brighten a long day.

But don't be one of those types who doctors tell me are inevitable in the hospital room.

Slays Entire Day There's the long-faced visitor, who already has buried the patient although the lucky soul is being dismissed tomorrow. Another is the long-staying visitor, who apparently figures as long as he's doing his good deed, he might as well make it for the whole day.

Or, the bubbly, nothing-gets-me-down visitor whose presence probably is an asset at a cocktail party but sometimes is more than a sick person can take. Strike a happy medium in cheerfulness.

I often wonder what the patient, who has to be confined, thinks when a visitor remarks, "Boy, does that bed look good. I could use some of the rest, you're getting." Or, the reaction of the patient to the visitor who says, "You look better than I expected," or, "You look worse than I expected."

There also is the "I told you so" visitor, who reminds the patient that if he had listened to good ole Charley this illness could have been prevented. And there is finally, I've noticed, the "well my doctor says" visitor, who's THE imminent authority on the patient's illness because she has talked it over with her own physician.

"I wish the visitor would quit comparing ailments," one prominent New York physician told me when we were discussing this subject. "And above all quit giving free advice. This is the worst of all and may undermine the patient's faith in his own doctor."

Some General Rules

Blue Cross, the hospital insurance plan, with the aid of physicians has compiled a chart for us visitors. It includes these suggestions to those who would speed the patient's recovery.

—No more than two visitors in the room at a time.

—Make your visits as brief as possible. A cheerful 15 minutes are ample.

—Be calm, cheerful and optimistic. Avoid all exciting, disturbing subjects.

—Don't sit or lean on the bed.

—If you have a cold, don't pay a visit.

Speak quietly, walk quietly, laugh quietly. Rest and quiet are major contributions to recovery.

If the patient is critically ill, only members of the immediate family should visit.

Don't deluge the patient with flowers all at once. Space them out, if the illness is long. Books, magazines and games also often are welcome.

Don't bring food, unless the doctor or nurse approves.

No smoking, please; in case oxygen is used, positively no smoking.

Blue Cross said hospitals have their individual regulations on permitting children to visit, but that a pretty good rule is, no children under 13 permitted.

'Body Image' Usually Shuns Reality

By DELOS SMITH UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Further scientific progress in unravelling the complexities of human beings has shown a clear relationship between the "body image" of themselves which they carry around unconsciously in their minds and the side of their bodies on which their response to mental stimulation is the skin. This current is in the skin of all of us and its intensity can be increased or lessened by emotion.

To some this "body image" idea always sounds implausible, but science knows for sure we all harbor an "image" of our own body which usually does not agree with our actual body as others see it. Everyone knows fat people who think of themselves as thin and plain women who act as though they were reigning beauty queens.

And some sections of anyone's body will be more "reactive" than others. Physicians know that from hypochondriacs who "think" themselves into feeling ill and into feeling definite pain although physically they're sound as a dollar. These hypochondriacs show preference as to body sections — They like one section for pain better than others.

Split Body For experimental simplification Dr. Seymour Fisher of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, split the body down the middle into left and right halves, theoretically, of course. But this theory has reality. Most people prefer their right halves to their left, since they are right-handed. Very few show impartiality by being ambidextrous (like Mickey Mantle).

Fisher fixed it so that the individual unconscious body images of 46 men and 32 women couldn't possibly agree with reality. He did that by putting spectacles on them which caused what they saw through the left eye to be different in size and shape than what they saw through the right eye. He then had them put their left and right hands together and left and right hands together and deliberate about the intensity of the electric current in the fingers of one hand were the electric current in the fingers of the other and left fingers of the subjects who were strongly right-handed, whereas in the subjects with no "image" of themselves which they carried around unconsciously in their minds and the side of their bodies on which their response to mental stimulation is the skin. This current is in the skin of all of us and its intensity can be increased or lessened by emotion.

But the emotional power of a left and right hands together and deliberate about the intensity of the electric current in the fingers of one hand were the electric current in the fingers of the other and left fingers of the subjects who were strongly right-handed, whereas in the subjects with no "image" of themselves which they carried around unconsciously in their minds and the side of their bodies on which their response to mental stimulation is the skin. This current is in the skin of all of us and its intensity can be increased or lessened by emotion.

Every three and a half minutes, a SAC bomber is being refueled in air somewhere in the world.

Colombo, Ceylon, Port Congested By Strikes

By CHARLES GUNAWARDENA
COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—The freighter Ajos Vlasos with 4,400 tons of Burmese rice reached Colombo on June 29. It wasn't until 63 days later that the last bag left her hold.

This is but one illustration of the chaotic congestion in the Colombo port caused by strikes and slowdowns by dockworkers and inadequate equipment.

Colombo is the major port of Ceylon through which the bulk of food for its 9 million population must enter.

The Ajos Vlasos reached Colombo on June 29 but could not get into the crowded harbor. It was forced to leave to outside with a long queue of ships also waiting for berths.

It was Sept. 2 before a berth was found for the Ajos Vlasos but that did not mean a quick discharge of her cargo. One of the reasons was the ship had to leave the berth and go outside the harbor when ships with greater priority reached Colombo.

It was on Nov. 7—63 days after she arrived—that the last bag of rice was put ashore.

Meantime, the Ajos Vlasos had a change of masters. The captain who brought the ship to Colombo was officially transferred, but he told friends he was "getting away from this blasted port."

While rice stocks have so far never run dangerously short, several other foodstuffs such as potatoes, onions and sugar have frequently become scarce or completely unavailable due to delays in Colombo port.

Ceylon's consumers are now stoically accustomed to sudden and frequent price rises for staple foods like potatoes, rice and fish. Sometimes the delays in unloading are so protracted that perishable foodstuffs have to be dumped in the sea. In the last 2½ years, 10 million pounds of potatoes alone have been destroyed in this manner.

DISCOVERY—Dorothy Manewal, 16, and Richard Gillet, 22, had a date Saturday night at Portland, Ore., and discovered they were brother and sister separated ten years ago. Richard went to his sister's home yesterday and helped her make Christmas decorations.

Singer Roberta Peters Is Proud Mama

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roberta Peters draws braves when she sings at the Met. But when she tunes up at home, all she gets is a bowl from Paul Adam Fields, her 19-month-old son.

"I can't figure it out," said Miss Peters, "unless it's the high notes frightening him. He cries when I tear into an aria."

"All he appreciates is a lullaby."

"He's a bright little boy," said the proud mama. "Been walking since he was nine months old. He answers our phone and says, 'The Fields residence.' His grandparents all think he's a genius, of course."

Miss Peters, brunette, blue-eyed and one of the Metropolitan Opera Company's prettiest and youngest divas, is the wife of Bertram Fields, who owns a 28-hotel chain. Her first marriage to Robert Merrill, also of the Met, ended in divorce.

The coloratura soprano, who made her operatic debut when she was 20, talks more like a practical housewife than a prima donna. And if she has any of the tempestuous nature of another singer who made recent headlines in a battle with manager Rudolf Bing, it certainly is well restrained.

"I have enough to do on my own without worrying about comment on Callas," said the 28-year-old singer when asked what she thought of Maria, whom Bing fired.

Yet Miss Peters in her own untemperamental way draws an increasing number of juicy assignments—she will star in five "firsts," or first performances of the season, this year.

"The firsts call for so much rehearsing, that before each I stay in town a lot," she said. "Other New York from home for repeat wise, I suppose you could call it a performance."

"The Fields family lives in force," the singer said. "Maybe Scarsdale, a fashionable Westchester County suburb, and once All my life, I'd been in an apartment she gets an opening performance. I like a house to rattle out of the way, she drives into around in."

NAACP To Seek Five Congressmen

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The immediate goal of the National Association of Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is stated to be the election in 1960 of:—Three Negro congressmen from Mississippi.

—One each from North Carolina and South Carolina.

Authority for that political projection is Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) who wrote for the Christmas gift issue of the magazine "Esquire" an article on racial integration in its broadest phase.

Javits speculated, on what he regards as the likely possibility, that a Negro will be appointed to a top cabinet position or be elected President or Vice President of the United States by the year 2000—42 years hence.

The senator hopes and believes these events will transpire, explaining that he applies very practical considerations to the matter of Negroes and U. S. politics, as follows:

"Once the (Civil Rights) fight has won for Negroes in the south their constitutional right to vote," Javits wrote, "and once they learn to take the full responsibility of voting, this country may well witness a ballot box revolution in many southern states."

Population Gains

Another NAACP immediate objective is to increase several times over the registration of southern Negroes. The second session of the 106th U. S. Congress will convene in January, 2000, Javits believes between 30 and 40 Negroes will be elected to the House in that year. Negro leaders have told him that it will be possible to nominate a Negro to the Supreme Court in about 10 years and that there may be a Negro U. S. senator by then—1968.

In fewer than 50 years, Javits expects a Negro to be elected Mayor in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia or Los Angeles. By 1965, Javits expects school integration to be completed throughout the South.

Steady Vote Increase

The senator's practical political considerations largely are based on expectation of a great and steady increase in the Negro vote for local and federal office. Political factor No. 1, of course, is the protection now provided for Southern Negroes who desire to vote in federal elections. This was provided by last year's compromise civil rights bill.

Another factor is the population shift of Negroes to the great cities outside the South. The end result of such shifting can be seen in New York City where the Borough of Manhattan elected in 1953 and re-elected last year a Negro to be borough president. His name is Iulan Jack. Jack, in effect, is mayor of Manhattan Island, the one the Indians sold.

There is a great concentration of Negroes in New York City and on the record of performance, so far, it will become greater over the years.

"It is perfectly possible," Javits wrote for Esquire, "that by the year 2000, one out of every four New Yorkers (City) will be a Negro. In Chicago, the ratio could be one out of every three, and in Los Angeles half the voters might be Negroes."

Javits has not overestimated the power-house possibilities of the Negro vote.

He was delivering copies of the Dallas News about 5 a.m. when he spotted smoke surging from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Hell and their two children. They fled unhurt after his pounding on the door waked Mrs. Hell.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Keep A Good Grip

"GOD, IN HIS infinite wisdom, saw fit to place 'treads' on the tips of the fingers. The loops and whorls of your fingerprints were not put there for identification alone. If they were eliminated, you would have difficulty holding a wet glass of water, a cake of soap, or getting a life-saving grip on any object you might reach for." This is the basis for a new plea for safety from Capt. Singleton Shaeffer in the current issue of the National Safety Council magazine. Captain Shaeffer is commanding officer of a troop of Pennsylvania state police. His plea is a climax of years spent in observing accident results on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

IN CLASSIFYING accidents, some of the more frequent are blamed on: Too fast for conditions; lost control on curve; hazardous highway conditions. But behind these labels, says Captain Shaeffer, are bad tires. Chief cause of turnpike accidents—and we must have these things firmly in mind as the turnpike mileage increases—are fatigue and lack of sleep. But next as a killer is "too fast for conditions." It is here that slick tires and blown-out tires lurk in all their deadliness. In July and August, 1956, 68 per cent of turnpike fatalities involved bad rubber. A check of wrecked vehicles at one of the authorized turnpike garages showed 98 per cent of the cars had slick tires.

NEW LEGISLATION is needed to keep autos with worn "treads" off the roads, says Captain Shaeffer. The present standard of safety is whether fabric or cushion gum is showing. Take a look at your tires today. This veteran of auto safety says it is unsafe to take a car out if less than a sixteenth of an inch of tread is showing at every point on the surface of all your tires including the spare. It seems that anything so fundamental wouldn't need preaching. But the police found a great deal of confusion as to just when a tire was safe. Take his word for it. The more tread, the better. Keep a good grip on the road—and life.

Loss To France

A FRENCH statesman who stood out from the country's run-of-mine politicians has had a serious setback. Pierre Mendes-France, a former premier, failed to win a seat in the National Assembly, the French parliament. As premier, Mendes-France got the country out of a bloody and futile war in Indo-China and granted home rule to Tunisia. Both steps angered reactionaries, whose rage was intensified by his stand for a negotiated peace with Algeria. The Algerian war is like a running sore, draining the national vitality. The conflict apparently cannot be ended by any strength that France can muster. It seems obvious, therefore, that negotiation is the only way out. De Gaulle realizes this, and has tried to keep the road to reconciliation open. The militarists dare not attack De Gaulle, so they have taken out their anger on Mendes-France. As premier Mendes-France had his faults. Largely due to his opposition the French parliament spurned the European Defense Community allying the nations of western Europe except Spain and Portugal. Yet he is one of the few French statesmen today with novel solutions for old problems. His enforced absence from the National Assembly is a loss to France.

CONSIDERING the big hit he made in England, Vice President Nixon's followers are beginning to wonder if he ought to run for office there instead of here in 1960.

House Also Faces Battle On Rules

WASHINGTON — The Senate battle on rules will be duplicated in the new House by a drive to liberalize the Rules Committee. The Rules Committee is the traffic policeman of the unwieldy House. It is also very often the means by which the conservative coalition of Southern and Republicans prevents legislation it dislikes from being considered by the House. Nobody disputes that the House needs something like the Rules Committee. But the operations of the seniority system have long combined with the one-party South and the gerrymandered districts of the Midwest to give conservatives automatic pre-eminence there with each new Congress. It is a face session which does not produce a liberal struggle, to circumvent this situation.

Stevenson Cannot Be Counted Out

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The name of Adlai Stevenson refuses to fade from the 1960 presidential lists. Democratic leaders, noting polls which show his today's favorite among the party rank and file, are mulling over his current position and wondering under what circumstances he might capture a third straight nomination. The feeling is that if he should get it again, most likely it would be a matter of hauling him from the wings in a national convention deadlocked over other candidates. Stevenson himself is dead set against running and clearly will not lift his smallest finger to win a delegate. Even if he had a great reservoir of strength among Democratic professionals, this personal determination would be a severe drawback.

BUT, THE POLLS notwithstanding, party leaders aren't sure just how much strength for 1960 Stevenson really has. California Democrats who backed Gov.-elect Edmund G. (Pat) Brown seem as interested in Adlai as ever, though Brown now says he's taking Stevenson's word that he's not a candidate. At least one powerful eastern Democrat remains staunchly pro-Stevenson, though he isn't all convinced he'll get the chance this time to assert his devotion in concrete terms. Beyond this, the notion is widespread that professionals may fear to gamble a third time on a man who has already lost the presidency twice. Some who accepted him in 1956 did so with little enthusiasm. Among these and others today, there's a strong idea that Stevenson can't communicate his personal warmth to enough ordinary citizens.

EVEN Democratic intellectuals who hailed him in 1952 were somewhat disenchanted in 1956. Today some are alternately thrilled by his undiminished talent for expressing ideas, and chilled by evidences that he often doesn't "get across."

ry out what they regard as its mandate to furnish leadership on the matters that trouble Americans, a responsive Rules Committee was the indicated first step. IN THE LAST Congress help came to the Democrats — on an aggressive Eisenhower Republican, Representative Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who had managed to break through the GOP conservative barrier and gain a Rules seat. Scott next January will be fighting a similar rules battle, but on the other side of the Capitol as Senator Scott. House liberals canvassed the GOP seniority lists and came up with the unhappy conclusion that major symbols of hard-bossed conservatism, as Representative Carroll Reece of Tennessee, were in line for that party's vacancies on Rules. Nor can two Dixiecrats, Chairman Howard Smith of Virginia and Representative William Colmer of Mississippi, be unsealed. It was agreed that President Eisenhower's present legislative and budget attitudes suggest that he will "take less than no interest in trying to push liberal Republicans for major Congressional committees."

DEMOCRATS, after discussing rently unproven strength and his own insistence on keeping out of things, certain key Democrats won't write him off for 1960. Though they believe most professionals want to give some new prospects their run, the number of these is so large that no one of them might muster enough delegate power to go all the way. After Stevenson, Sen. John F. Kennedy, smash winner in Massachusetts last month, tops the candidate pack by a wide margin. Others consistently mentioned are Senators Symington of Missouri and Johnson of Texas, and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey.

A CONVENTION movement toward Stevenson might develop rapidly if the "new faces" were struggling in stalemate. Some politicians see another circumstance that might favor him. They rate him a "big man" of a caliber especially fitted for big times. If 1960 should produce critical turns in defense or foreign policy, they think Stevenson's chances might be notably enhanced.

BILLS ADVANCE—The bill of the Mayor and Council of Cumberland to clarify and strengthen its borrowing capacity, and the measure authorizing the county to have a bond issue for a new high school here, pass their second readings today in the House of Delegates.

LIQUOR TAX ASKED—A special committee named by the president recommends to Congress a triple program providing a tax of $2.60 a gallon on distilled spirits, sharing of the revenues with states, and legislation to permit negotiation of reciprocal trade agreements on foreign liquor imports.

LEGAL SALE STARTS—The legalized sale of hard liquor, wines and beer begins in Cumberland, with over a hundred applicants receiving license forms under the temporary 60-day clause of the county's liquor control bill. The applicants pay $102.50 for the "short term" license.

REGISTRATION SET—Capt. Harry E. Flook announces a re-employment registration will be conducted in Frostburg on December 13 for residents of that area who wish to secure work through the Civil Works Administration. Men will be paid 45 cents an hour on a basis of a 30-hour week.

various Rules-curling devices, have informally agreed that the most straightforward method was the best. They will ask Speaker Sam Rayburn to take account of increased Democratic strength in the House, virtually all of it identified with the liberal point of view, by increasing the Democratic majority on Rules and appointing liberals to the new places. An effort is being made to educate the new members of the importance this change will have for them in their districts. Very often freshmen entertain a lively fear, frequently justified, that their seniors won't like it if they appeal to the Speaker.

IN THIS case the freshmen are being told that prolonged stalemate on legislation important to their districts would be worse for them than Judge Smith's frown. On the Republican side, the replacements selected for Senator-elect Scott and Representative Henry J. Latham of New York, who retires December 31, will suggest the kind of record the party intends to make in the two years before the country ballots for its next President.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — On occasion, and with enthusiasm, this reporter has mentioned Julie Newman as one of his major admirations, she being a remarkably bright, forthright, beautiful and tall young woman of the theatre, the child of a former Ziegfeld Follies charmer and the sister of a 15-year-old brother who, at UCLA, is stunning his electronics and physics professors with the vast range of his intellect. Don't ever try to tell me that Follies girls don't produce children with brains. They even produce attractive children with brains.

THE OTHER sullen afternoon, with the weight of snow hanging in the still, threatening air, it seemed to me that a good thing to do would be to call Julie and ask her, if she was not otherwise occupied, if she would like to meet me at a less than well-rehearsed called Schrafft's and nip at some hot tea and toasted crumpets.

She said that would be fine, if we could make it after 4 o'clock, because until then she would be knee-deep in choosing her first, her very own mink coat pal' for with her own earnings. "I've been wearing a 10-year-old mink my mother turned over to me," she said, "and it is beginning to show evidence that soon it will be old enough to vote."

JULIE, currently setting "The Marriage-Go-Round" aflame as an overwhelming and shattering intruder in the home and marriage of Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert, came into Schrafft's about 4:20 a.m. for the benefit of any record's being kept, we did have tea (she, likes it with milk, by the way) and we did have crumpets. "I wasn't sure you'd be free," I said. "Every newspaper I pick up has you scolding this and that gallant until the roster is about 4,287 names long."

"SOME OF THEM" even are men of character," she said wryly. "The fact, the exact fact, is that not one paper or gossip column has mentioned the right one. He even has a name: Joe Nobody. That's the fellow igniting my interest right now. He is a delightful man; he doesn't exist." "Now, Julie."

Hilda's Way Is Surely Best

WASHINGTON — My first Christmas card, a deeply religious one, has arrived by mail from somebody I never heard of. This is all to the good. The sentiments I have noted and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield will be pleased to hear that this particular card didn't louse up his mailmen. The rush starts in about a week. From Summerfield and Co. I am in receipt of a notice suggesting that while the Post Office Department is devoting itself to the delivery of Christmas Cards, Dec. 13 to 24, I refrain from mailing any mail in mail-boxes. These will be full of Christmas cards and the boys in gray have about given up hope of emptying them on schedule.

A BETTER idea, they say, is to put letters in long envelopes, paste upon these special delivery stamps, and drop them in the slot at the post office. Then they should get delivered.

At 34 cents per letter they should and all I want Gen. Summerfield to know is that I'll not be sending any mail for a while. My letters aren't worth 34 cents each. The card situation I'll solve as I have for many years past, by not sending any.

YOU'D THINK an old Scrooge like me, who sends no unsealed angels to anybody, wouldn't be bothered by deluges of Christmas cards. It hasn't worked that way.

Every year I get more, mostly from sentimental corporations, government people, press agents, movie actors, I haven't had the pleasure of meeting, hotels in which I stayed years ago, book publishers, haberdashers, auto agents, television gents; restaurants (including one in Dallas, Texas, where I never ate), railroads, airlines, whisky distillers, a bank where I have no account, insurance agents, soda-pop bottlers and other strangers. I'm always surprised how full of good will these unknown ones are.

THEY MUST trade their mailing lists. Sometimes these lists get mixed up good. From one U. S. Senator I've regularly received two Christmas cards: one de luxe for important constituents; the other plain for garden-variety voters. How I got on both his lists I don't suppose I'll ever know.

Last year I got so many cards, including one from Gene Autry and his horse, that my pay check was a week late. The trouble was the management didn't send it special delivery and I trust the Accounting Department will take note of this complaint. MY BRIDE likes Christmas cards: she even likes to send 'em, the hard way. No mere card with her name printed on it suits her. She writes Christmas letters to her friends. This takes time, but she says it makes her feel better. Even now she's at her desk.

My own system I still think is better. I save postage, the temper of the Postmaster General, time, and stickum. Better yet, a friend of mine who gets no card from me knows he's not being dropped from my list. He also knows from experience that I'll write him a note along about next July, when the Postmaster General will be drumming up business.

LONDON — A group of public spirited Britons have launched an all-out campaign to persuade people that oryctolagus cuniculus is nothing but a common bunny. Organized as the Rabbit Advisory Council, they hope to establish in the minds of all that rabbits are evil, dirty, cowardly, and thieving, showing little or no restraint in matters of procreation.

The council proposes to introduce this theme into British school lessons and story books. Their ultimate objective is the total extermination of oryctolagus as a costly pest.

AS MIGHT BE expected among a people brought up for generations on child literature of the Peter Rabbit variety, the council is meeting with outraged resistance.

Five years ago the rabbit plague myxomatosis, believed to have arrived in England accidentally from France, slaughtered the little animals by the million.

Farmers, estimating their crop losses to rabbit voracity as high as $4 million dollars a year, were encouraged to believe that the British rabbit would become extinct.

On the other hand, hat makers, who rely on rabbit fur to make felt, were far from happy. Butchers, who sell rabbits for food, suffered a loss of profits. The hopes of the farmers and the fears of the haters failed, it developed, to take into account the rabbit's hardihood and breeding ability. A strain of rabbit developed which was immune to myxomatosis. These immune rabbits proceed to breed like rabbits.

IN MANY PARTS of England fields once again are jumping with the little devils. This led to the formation of the Rabbit Advisory Council, and its members' ears are burning. Some typical letters to the newspapers say:

"I have had a toy rabbit since I was eight months old, and no criticism would make me hate it. I don't think mean, evil, or horrid are correct descriptions."

"Let us leave children their few remaining happinesses. May they long cuddle rabbits rather than toy guns."

"The rabbit is not mean, evil, loathsome, or a thief, or dirty. He is perfectly clean, full of courage, and intelligent."

It looks as though the council is in for a long, tough haul.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—I was passing the Executive Offices of the White House, and said to myself: "This is where Nelson A. Rockefeller used to work. I wonder how they're getting on without him?" I decided to go to the fountainhead for the answer, and made my way to Room 206, where a neat little sign on the door said: "President's Advisory Committee on Government Reorganization." A friendly young lady ushered me into an inner office big enough for a basketball court, and presented me to the staff director, a pleasant, but briskly efficient 50-year-old named Arthur A. Kimball. The place looked hauntingly familiar. I mentioned this to Director Kimball. He grinned historically. "This is the old office of former Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The black leather chairs belonged to Woodrow Wilson. But the green drapes are by courtesy of Chairman Rockefeller."

"THAT'S WHO I want to know about," I said. "How are you getting along without him?"

"We're not," replied Kimball succinctly. "You mean you're falling apart without him?"

"I mean we're not without him. He's still chairman, and still very much on the job. Few people know it, but he's here nearly every weekend."

"You mean he sneaks into Washington to advise the President on government reorganization?"

"I wouldn't say 'sneaks.' I would merely say he does it without fanfare. But he's still exceedingly active on this committee. He'll be in here this Saturday."

"But, I demurred, 'how's he going to get in here secretly? He's fairly well known now.'"

"I've heard that," said Director Kimball solemnly. "But I am confident, on the basis of his past performances, that he will succeed in getting here without any hullabaloo that will hamper the huge agenda awaiting him. All our important meetings have to be held over weekends now. It's the only time he and the other two committee members can get together."

"Let me see now," I said. "Who are the other members?"

"They are Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, the new Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower."

"I was pretty sure they were a couple of doctors," I said. "The name of one is vaguely familiar. How come they both have the same middle initial 'S', while you and the chairman both have the middle initial 'A'? Are you hearing initials?"

Director Kimball didn't waste time on that one. He is an exceedingly busy man. He runs this committee with a staff of three girls and a budget of $27,500 a year. He used to direct the U.S. Information Agency, which—as of the last count six weeks ago—has a staff of 10,567, and a budget of $88,500,000. But a lot of big minds, both Republican and Democratic, will tell you the operations of one outfit are as important as the other.

THE COMMITTEE on government reorganization—not to be confused with the defunct Hoover Commission on the same thing—has been plugging away since four days after Ike's first inauguration, and has already saved the taxpayers untold millions by eliminating overlapping. But it functions so quietly that not too many were really aware of its existence until Rockefeller branched out gubernatorially. The committee does a lot of quiet work with Congress. I asked Director Kimball if he thought the experience on Capitol Hill would help New York's new Governor with his State Legislature. "Each year Chairman Rockefeller and I have been going before the Senate and House Appropriations committees," replied Mr. Kimball, "and few administrators have shown the sound ability to work with legislators. He's a red tape cutter. They love him."

Party Honors Teacher Of Bible Class

ELLERSLIE — The Ellerslie Methodist Church congregation and Sunday School paid a special tribute to Mrs. Hugh Stevenson, Saturday night, for her more than 50 years of service as a Sunday School Bible Class teacher.

At a surprise party held in her honor in the social rooms of the church, Mrs. Stevenson was presented with a dollar bill corsage made up of $25, an orchid corsage, a large bouquet of flowers and some 25 other gifts. She also received 50 cards from former class members.

Mrs. Stevenson recalls that she began teaching a class of teenagers about 20 years ago, and during that time some 85 or 90 boys have come and gone. Most of them, she said, ranged in ages from 16 to 19 years.

At the social affair Saturday night, about 20 of her "older" boys returned to pay her tribute. They came from Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Bedford, and other towns in this area. She recalls that one of her former Sunday School students is now a minister in Canton, Ohio, several are in business for themselves and a couple hold responsible executive positions. "They are all good boys and have all done very well," she confided to a reporter last night. She also said one boy is in Germany, and several others are in the Armed Forces elsewhere.

Arrangements for the affair were in charge of Mrs. Harry Porter and a committee of women from the church.

Mrs. Stevenson is the wife of Orphan Court Judge Hugh Stevenson and said she is retiring from teaching and the class is now being reorganized into a young peoples' class for boys and girls. She expects to continue her interest and activity in Sunday School and church work and said she will spend the next several days writing to the more than 50 "boys" who sent her cards and gifts for this occasion.

GOP Leader Rejects Bid For Harmony

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Inside the Statehouse: Democratic State Chairman Hulett C. Smith has suggested to Republican State Chairman Daniel Louchery that the two throw a party before the Legislature convenes in an effort to promote cooperation between legislators of the two parties.

Louchery thought it was a pretty good idea but he didn't go along with Smith's proposal that they split the cost half-and-half.

The Republican chairman suggested that the cost of sharing should reflect Democratic majorities of 85-15 in the House of Delegates and 23-9 in the Senate.

L. T. A. Welty is now in charge of the State Police Academy at Dunbar in addition to being head of the Accident Prevention Bureau.

Responsibility for the academy was removed from Capt. C. N. Reger in order to give him more time to spend in his principal assignment as head of the Criminal Investigation Bureau.

The State Board of Public Works got a first hand look today at what an IBM machine can do.

Most of a 288-page budget request document placed before the seven-member board was compiled with new IBM machines installed recently in the Department of Finance and Administration. Previously, the work had been done on typewriters by several secretaries.

Finance Director George B. Vieweg described the installation of the business machines as "a major step forward" and said they saved countless hours of time.

The attorney general's office has set a record in handling of claims against the state.

More than 60 claims have been recovered this year and hearings were held on each of them. Results are to be certified to the budget office next week for inclusion in the budget document to come before the 1959 Legislature.

The claims section has not indicated how much money is involved in the claims but a spokesman hinted that the total might set a record.

Woman Stays Home To Bag Record Buck

HARRISVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — Ritchie County undoubtedly has a many crack deer hunters among its male population, but Mrs. Harold Wolfe doesn't have to give ground to any of them.

The Smithfield woman killed a 19-point buck weighing some 200 pounds near her home on the weekend. It was reported to be the largest deer taken in the county during West Virginia's six-day deer season which closed Saturday evening.

Tribute Paid To War Dead By Randolph

ELKINS — In an Elks memorial service address here yesterday, U.S. Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) broadened the scope of his remarks to pay "fitting acknowledgment also to our debt to those who gave their lives at Pearl Harbor 17 years ago on the same date, as well as to the thousands of dead and wounded in the years of the holocaust that followed."

West Virginia's new senator, who was seated November 5 to serve the unexpired portion of the term of the late Sen. M. M. Neely, said "It has been a dispirited and tragic disillusionment for Americans, and for the citizens of other free nations as well, to see, in the 12 years since the end of World War II, the extinguishment of the ideals of freedom and individual dignity among the millions of people under the domination of the Soviet Union and Communist China."

"In the face of such terrifying regression and assaults upon the dignity of man, we might, in moments of weakness, wonder if it has all been worth the cost in blood and treasure," he declared, and added:

"We can best memorialize those we love, not by haunting regrets for a past that can be no more, but by building a true memorial in the future—a memorial made of our dedication to the ideals and values they served."

"This we can best do by maintaining a strong and vital America for the preservation and extension of the ideals of human freedom and dignity of man. Since the communist forces that oppose us respect only power—and the show of power—America must maintain her power economically as well as militarily."

"This means also that we can no longer afford the luxury of giving part-time attention to full-time problems—for the problems of combating Soviet imperialism is indeed a full-time assignment which deserves the full application of all our resources."

Sen. Randolph also called for reexamination of our country's military policies and said we must counter actions of the Soviet Union and Communist China "whenever and wherever their imperialistic designs lead them to encroach upon free nations—and such power cannot be provided by an unwise and unrealistic attitude toward our national budget."

Ruling Made In Gun Death

TERRA ALTA — Orval McKinley Wolfe, 61-year-old resident of RD 1, was found dead last Thursday, and the coroner's office has ruled his death a suicide.

State Police stationed in Kingwood said that a shotgun blast had penetrated his chest and a suicide note was found in his pocket. Officers said he had been known to have threatened to take his own life on several occasions.

Russell Kelly, who lives near the scene of the death, said he heard a shot but thought it came from the gun of a deer hunter.

About 30 minutes later, two employees of the State Road Commission, Gelly Spahr and Toots Close, found the body while inspecting culverts along the rural road.

The investigation revealed that Wolfe had apparently pushed the 12-gauge shotgun loaded with a "pumpkin ball" into the bank alongside the road, leaned against the barrel and pulled the trigger.

He was a native of Terra Alta, born Jan. 27, 1907, a son of the late John and Amanda (Metheny) Wolfe.

The deceased was a member of the Methodist Church and a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his widow, Laura Elsie Wolfe; a son Robert D. Wolfe, Terra Alta; two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Jean Rockart, Crelin, Md., and Mrs. Betty Lee Metheny, Terra Alta; two sisters, Mrs. Lillie John, Terra Alta, and Mrs. Elva Wilhoit, Lenox; a brother, Archie Wolfe, Lenox; and six grandchildren.

Services were held yesterday at the Valley Point Methodist Church and burial was in Mt. Moriah Cemetery, Valley Point.

Man Carves Wood Model Of WM Train

ROMNEY — District Conservation Officer Clay Messenger, Port Ashby, of the District 2 headquarters here, claims he has more hobbies than time to devote to them.

However, in his spare time during past two years he has carved from wood a model of one of the famous Western Maryland Railroad's "Polonaise 484" steam locomotives which were familiar to area residents until 1934.

On call 24 hours a day, Messenger managed to find enough time to complete the model in the most minute detail.

Using a photo taken from a magazine as his only pattern, he scaled the model to one inch for every three feet of actual length. The model is 37 inches long.

There are nine different kinds of wood in the model, which is shaped from walnut, white pine, white oak, poplar, hickory, fir, redwood, cherry and chestnut. He also used some metal in the work, and the model contains aluminum, copper, brass, iron, steel and lead.

The "Polonaise" was originally constructed by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and the Western Maryland Railroad pulled several of them on the rails in 1947. They were scrapped in 1954 to make way for diesel powered locomotives.

Messenger, in addition to being an expert wood carver, does some landscape painting in oil, and owns an extensive collection of Indian relics.

Eastern Orthodox Christians Want Identification

By LOUIS CASELS

United Press International

It comes natural to most people to speak of "the three great religious faiths," meaning Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

This national habit is a source of considerable irritation to some 5,000,000 Americans who are members of the Eastern Orthodox churches.

They believe that Eastern Orthodoxy is entitled to public recognition as a fourth major confession. Slowly but steadily, they seem to be getting their point across.

The U. S. armed forces now use the letters "EO" on dog tags to identify Eastern Orthodox Christians, who were previously lumped in with Protestants. President Eisenhower invited an orthodox priest to offer one of the four prayers at his second inaugural.

The legislatures of 17 states have enacted resolutions officially recognizing Orthodoxy as a fourth major faith. Similar legislation is pending in other states and will be introduced in the U. S. Congress next January.

Not Pride

To Orthodox Christians, this is not just a matter of pride, but of bringing popular usage into line with the facts of history.

For the first thousand years of its existence, the Christian church was undivided. But friction developed between its two main centers of ecclesiastical power—the Constantinople in the East and Rome in the West. The patriarch of Constantinople, and the Greek-speaking Eastern churches which followed his leadership, refused to acknowledge the claims of the Pope of Rome for supremacy over the entire church.

In 1054, the estrangement was formalized by what historians call "the great schism." The Roman Pope excommunicated the patriarch of Constantinople, and the patriarch excommunicated the Pope. The Latin speaking Western churches remained under the Pope, and became what is called today the Roman Catholic Church. The Eastern churches became the Orthodox communion.

Orthodox Christians say they did not split off from Rome. Rome split off from them. Their churches claim to be the "direct heirs" and "true conservators" of the original Christian faith as it was spelled out at the seven great councils of the primitive church.

Recite Nicene Creed

The familiar Nicene Creed, formulated at the Council of Nicea in 325 A.D., is one of the fullest expressions of Orthodox doctrine, and is recited at each liturgy.

Orthodox worship is elaborately ritualistic. The church recognizes seven sacraments: Baptism (which is administered to infants and adults by triple immersion); Anointing or confirmation, which immediately follows Baptism; Penance; Communion; Holy Orders; Marriage; and Holy Unction (which is administered to the sick, but not necessarily as a last rite.)

Candidates for the priesthood may marry before they are ordained, but not afterwards. All U. S. hands.

Orthodox bishops are members of a monastic order which practices celibacy. The growth of Orthodoxy in the continental United States was slow until the present century, when immigrants began to arrive from the Balkans and Eastern Europe. These immigrants transplanted to America the national church loyalties of their homelands.

Today there are 21 Eastern Orthodox bodies in the United States. Their total membership, as reported to the Yearbook of American Churches, is just over 2,500,000. But most Orthodox churches count as members only adults who are heads of households. If women and children are included, the total is probably between five and six million.

Greek Body Largest
The largest U. S. body is the Greek Archdiocese of North and South America, with 378 local churches and upwards of 1,150,000 members.

Street Work Rules To Be Made Strict

Long Wants To Avoid Patchwork-Replacing Of Various Surfaces

More stringent control over permits for digging up city streets and a pre-planning program to reduce the number of excavations were proposed today by Street Commissioner John J. Long in an effort to slash "patchwork" repairs.

The suggestions came as the result of a statement by Long before the Mayor and Council in which he agreed with published criticisms of a patchwork job on Fayette Street. He said he agreed that the city's streets "have become a maze of patching and as street commissioner I do not like patching of streets either."

"I feel the home owner paid for the street in front of his property and is entitled to a uniform, permanent street."

Not Enough Salvage

In reference to the Fayette Street patching, Street Superintendent Andrew H. Heller said the street was paved about 40 years ago and the company which manufactured the brick used has gone out of business.

Some of the original brick was broken during excavation and while about two truckloads were salvaged, the number was insufficient to repave the entire area of about 360 feet.

He said all of the city's brick streets are of different types and sizes and the city can not buy replacements. As a result, he said the city has been patching about 20 years but in doing so tries to match the patchwork surface, color with the original surface.

Ordered Brick Replaced
Long referred to regulations governing the tearing up of streets by utilities and also recalled that on August 14 he ordered his department to repair brick streets with original type surfacing material if possible.

Then he suggested a new permit system be instigated and added if there was some pre-planning much of the digging up of streets could be eliminated.

With the advent of cold weather, Long said it will be difficult to replace excavations. As a result, he said he recommended that excavation permits be held up until spring unless it concerned an absolute emergency.

Long added that the new Frederick Street project, completed only a couple years ago, already has been dug up and patched. In fact, he continued, "almost every new or old street in Cumberland has been patched."

Utility Rule Proposed
He also said utilities or the Water Department should be required by law to replace street surfaces in their original condition.

Referring to Somerville Avenue, a semi-surface street installed in connection with the Potomac Edison Company's new service center, Long said he did not feel the city is carrying its street program through. The company helped pay for it and they should have a permanent street, he said, adding that there is no curbing and it is only a matter of time until drainage ruins the surface.

"I think we missed the boat by not putting down a permanent surface," he said, adding "I think we should stay away from semi-surface streets."

Wants Four-Year Plan
That is why he presented the department's four-year plan for street improvement "for which I hope you'll give me the money some day," the commissioner continued.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder told Long that the city did not have the money "at the moment" when the four-year plan was presented. Long replied it could have been obtained by borrowing.

Mrs. Roeder asked if Long were asking the people for money and Long replied such action should start within the Mayor and Council.

Coffee Prices Lowest Here In Ten Years

Coffee prices in retail groceries are at their lowest level in eight to ten years, according to a survey of local outlets.

Major food chains have dropped their prices with premium brands costing four to five cents lower than last week. Some of the major dealers dropped their most popular name brands as much as six cents a pound.

One neighborhood grocer reported the price of a popular premium coffee he sells is five cents lower than last week.

As an example of how coffee prices have decreased during the past year, he said, this same coffee in the instant type sold at $1.28 for a six-ounce jar last year and today it is retailed for $1.12 for the same size jar.

It was also brought out that about 40 per cent of all coffee sold nowadays is the instant type.

Local Firms Get Contracts For Gas, Oil

Municipal Fleet Will Use Regular Instead Of High-Test

Garland Petroleum Company will furnish gasoline and Esso Standard Oil Company automotive oil and greases for the city's motorized fleet beginning January 1.

The Mayor and Council today accepted the bids of the two firms in a purchase moved designed to save the city a couple thousand dollars during the next year.

Garland bid 14.4 cents a gallon for 90 octane gasoline and 17.4 cents a gallon for 99 octane. Council ordered that the motor fleet of the Street and Water departments use straight (regular) gasoline instead of high test.

Prices Listed

The bid of Esso was accepted for oil and greases as follows: oil regular, 53 cents a gallon; high detergent, 55 cents; gear oil, .08125 cents a pound; gear grease, 13 cents a pound; automotive greases, .1325 cents a pound; wheel bearing grease, .175 cents a pound.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said the bids were the lowest of companies meeting specifications. Since the orders are effective January 1, she said she believed council should not order more gasoline at the new present time.

Mrs. Roeder suggested the use of straight gas instead of high test as the result of studies made by State Roads Commission operations. However, Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming pointed out some Fire Department equipment must use the higher octane product.

Lights To Be Bought
On another such economy move, Mrs. Roeder told council earlier that bids are being asked for furnishing lamps for municipal buildings. Bids for quotations on discounts for the lamps to start January 1, will be received by the city clerk until 10 a. m. Monday, December 29.

Lamps must be of first quality surface," he said, adding "I think we should stay away from semi-surface streets."

That is why he presented the department's four-year plan for street improvement "for which I hope you'll give me the money some day," the commissioner continued.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder told Long that the city did not have the money "at the moment" when the four-year plan was presented. Long replied it could have been obtained by borrowing.

Mrs. Roeder asked if Long were asking the people for money and Long replied such action should start within the Mayor and Council.

Schell Named Chairman Of Garrett Unit

Democrats Hold First Majority On County Board

Carl Schell, Kitzmiller, was elected chairman of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners at a meeting this morning in Oakland.

The meeting was notable in that it marked the first time in 90 years that the Democrats had a majority on the board. The other Democrat member is Eltra Garlitz, Friendsville, who in a brief address remarked that he "saw no reason why we can't work in harmony."

Elected as vice chairman was Fred Gloffely, Oakland, the only Republican member of the commissioners.

The new group appointed Stewart Hamill Jr. as Garrett County attorney, and retained Mrs. Virginia S. Fizer as clerk to the board.

The new commissioners were sworn in and presented their commissions by Wilbur Davis, clerk of Garrett County Court, prior to the meeting.

The session was attended by a large crowd that included the immediate past board of commissioners.

These were H. D. Swartzentruber, chairman; A. C. Breneman, vice chairman; and Ervin Roth. None had sought re-election.

The three former commissioners offered their congratulations to the new members and said they would be willing to help their successors in any way possible.

The new commissioners will meet later today with the Garrett County delegation to the General Assembly.

Luke Local Membership Meetings Set

Luke Local 676, United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, will hold a special election this week for ratification of a contract offer made by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company or possible strike action.

The company offer covered the Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., mills.

The Luke local has scheduled membership meetings tomorrow to explain the company offer. They will be held at noon and 4:30 p. m. in the Welsh Theatre, Westernport.

The Local 676 negotiating committee, headed by Wilbur Johnson, president, reported that contract negotiations between West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and Locals 675, 676 and 677 were broken off in Washington last week.

International representatives of the UPP, along with the negotiating committee will be present to explain to the members what the committee termed the company's "final offer."

The committee said a special election will be held Wednesday at the Devon Club in Luke "for ratification or strike action."

Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and the vote will be by secret ballot, the committee said. Negotiations on a new contract for the three mills broke off Friday night after a company spokesman said its $750,000 contract package was its final offer.

Harry E. Scott, UPP vice president and top union negotiator, said the union negotiators would report the outcome of the meeting to the 3,500 members of the three unions.

The contract offered at Luke includes wage increases ranging from four to 11 cents an hour and other benefits and runs until November 17, 1959.

Frostburg Teen Town Proves Very Popular

By C. A. LANCASTER
Evening Times Staff Writer

Just four years ago, a group of parents started an experiment with young people, and it has proved so successful that the 100,000-mark in attendance has been reached on the anniversary.

Instituted originally for Frostburg area teenagers, the popularity of Teen Town in that city has spread so much that on an average of 300 young people from all parts of Allegany County attend the weekly dances and get-togethers.

Teen Town in Frostburg was instituted by four parents, Mrs. Jonathan Jenkins, Mrs. Jesse Jacobs, Mrs. William Goebel and Howard Duckworth in an effort to provide a place for the youth of the community.

No Place To Go
Until that time, there was literally no place for teenagers to go for recreation, outside of limited school activities and the movies.

The first item on the list for Teen Town was a centrally-located hall for dancing and for a meeting place.

That was provided by the Frostburg Fire Department, with the youngsters and their advisory board taking over the third floor. It is here on the Fridays and Saturdays during school terms, and Wednesday and Saturdays during the summer that teenagers gather.

Govern Themselves
The teenagers have their own Teen Town governing organization, which works in cooperation with the adult advisory group.

Officers of Teen Town meet the first Mondays of each month while the adult group meets the first Tuesdays.

The young people do their own governing, which includes disciplining those who do not live up to the rules.

A demerit system is in effect and when a youngster receives a certain number he is banned from Teen Town for a stated period of time. The adult board acts on demerits after receiving the recommendations of the Teen Town officers.

Discipline Observed
There are strict regulations against smoking, drinking alcohol, and using profanity.

New Fire Code Approved By City Council

The Mayor and Council today approved a Fire Prevention Code prepared by the National Association of Fire Underwriters and which is in effect in most of the country's major cities.

Final action on the code had been delayed one week to allow any one affected by the move to be heard. There had been no complaints or criticism during the week, council said.

On another matter, council accepted the resignation of Mrs. Edith E. Celler as a school crossing guard effective December 1. Council previously had granted her a two-week leave of absence to look into another job possibility.

Three bids were received for cast iron pipe and fittings for the Water Department and referred to Commissioner G. Ray Light. Bidding are U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company, Pitsburgh; R. D. Wood Company, Philadelphia; and Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company, this city.

Council also approved payment of $495 to the Maryland Municipal League as its membership fee for 1959. It was pointed out the fee is based on the city's population.

Region Helps Texas Mark Yule Period
A "little bit" of Western Maryland plays a large role in the observance of Christmas in a Texas community, according to an area nursery.

For the past ten years, Holly Gardens of Mt. Savage has been shipping a Christmas tree to Kingsville, Texas, where Mr. and Mrs. Louis Caskey, former residents of Cumberland, reside.

The nursery began sending the trees at the request of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Comer, 303 East Oldtown Road. Mrs. Comer and Mrs. Caskey are sisters and the tree plan was begun when Mrs. Caskey told her sister that Christmas "just wasn't Christmas without a tree."

The Christmas tree attracts large numbers of visitors each year, the Caskeys report, explaining only "bushes" grow in that section of the Lone Star State.

A nine-foot red pine tree grown in Garrett County was shipped out this morning by Holly Gardens.

New Record Deer Kill Set By State Hunters
A record 3,094 deer were killed in Maryland during the six-day season which ended Saturday. This is 45 more than the number downed last year.

George Shields, chief game warden, said if shooting is up to last year in the special seasons which will follow, the overall total for 1958 should also surpass last year's 4,404.

Not included in the report for 19 counties where hunting was legal last week were the kills at Aberdeen Proving Ground and Edgewood Arsenal, where hunters bagged 414.

Special seasons on these military reservations will continue through this month.

Also to be added to the total are a 10-day season opening Dec. 15 at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club in Washington County and a special one-day dog season in Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester counties next Saturday.

The Cleveland Browns will play the New York Giants, only team ever to interrupt their unprecedented domination of the National Football League's Eastern Division, for the conference title next Sunday at Yankee Stadium.

Cleveland, most consistent winner in professional football history, clung to its one-game lead over New York Sunday by scoring a 21-14 decision over an inspired Eagles team at Philadelphia. The Giants, described by their coach as "not a good club," kept their hopes alive when Harland Sware blocked a Jim Martin field goal try with 1:13 remaining to preserve a 19-17 victory over the crippled Detroit Lions.

The Browns can win their eighth Eastern Division title in nine years by defeating or tying the Giants Sunday in a game which will draw a capacity crowd of more than 71,000. The Giants must win to tie for the crown and then beat the Browns again at Yankee Stadium Dec. 21 to qualify for the championship game with the Baltimore Colts Dec. 28.

Cleveland swept six Eastern titles after entering the NFL in 1950 and won again last year after the Giants snapped their record string in 1955.

Rams Defeat Colts
Baltimore, which will invade the Eastern champion's park for the championship game, clinched the Western crown a week ago. The Colts opened the weekend action by dropping a 30-28 decision to the Rams at Los Angeles before 100,202—the third largest crowd in league history.

In Sunday's other games, Bobby Layne's two touchdown passes sparked a rally that gave the Pittsburgh Steelers a 14-7 tie with the Washington Redskins; the Chicago Bears turned Chicago Cardinals' passes and fumbles into an easy 30-14 victory; and the San Francisco Forty-Niners turned three interceptions into touchdowns in the first six minutes en route to a 40-21 triumph over the Green Bay Packers.

Mill Plum, Cleveland's second-year quarterback, scored on a 10-yard dash and a one-yard plunge in the first period but Tommy McDonald caught touchdown passes from Norm Van Brocklin and Bill Barnes to make it 14-0 at the half. The Browns swept 74 yards in six plays for the decisive touchdown late in the third period. Ray Renfro, fleet flanker back, scored it when he took Plum's pass on the Philadelphia 25 and raced on to complete a 48-yard play.

Rugged Battle
Jim Brown, who gained 133 yards in 21 rushes, and Lew Carpenter, who collected 100 in 21 tries, helped Cleveland to control the ball. The Browns had lost five of their six previous games in Philadelphia and the Eagles gave them another rugged afternoon before 36,773 fans.

The Browns-Eagles game started a half-hour before the Giants-Lions game. The Browns finished first and it appeared they would win the Eastern crown outright when the Lions took a 17-12 lead into the final period before 50,115 fans.

Then Yale Lary of Detroit gambled on running from punt formation in a fourth-and-22 situation on his 43 and was dropped on his 45 by linebacker Cliff Livingston. The Giants then drove for the winning touchdown with Frank Gifford slamming the final yard on fourth down after Charley's 35-yard pass to Bob Schnepker put the ball on the Detroit 10.

Wake Forest May Surprise In Dixie Loop

By United Press International

West Virginia, rated a shoo-in for the Southern Conference basketball crown again this season, has some surprising company today in the upper reaches of the league standings.

William and Mary, with an eye-brow-raising 57-52 upset over highly-regarded George Washington, held down the No. 2 spot along with The Citadel.

Colonials On Bottom
The Colonials, with the same first team that extended West Virginia in two overtime losses last season before bowing 113-107, are at the bottom of the pile after the first week of skirmishing.

Richmond pulled off something of a surprise in a non-conference game over the weekend by turning back Virginia, 72-66. It was the Spiders' 10th straight victory over the Cavaliers in the last seven years.

West Virginia, paced by All-America candidate Jerry West's 24 points, disposed of Penn. State with a 78-63 win in the Mountaineers' home opener and their 23rd straight win at Morgantown, W. Va.

Virginia Military Institute and The Citadel were the only other conference quintets to win in weekend action.

VMI had to struggle to overcome Bridgewater, 63-54, but The Citadel downed Presbyterian, 77-62.

Marshall Beats VPI
Otherwise, Marshall, of West Virginia, trimmed sophomore-laden Virginia Tech, 78-70. King College rolled over Davidson, 60-43, and Florida State edged Furman, 73-72.

Only three conference games dot the crowded schedule this week. West Virginia hosts The Citadel Tuesday; Richmond is at George Washington Thursday and Virginia Military is at Richmond Saturday.

Non-league games have William and Mary home to Hampden-Sydney and Davidson home to Catawba tonight; Richmond at Washington and Lee and Furman home to Erskine Tuesday night; VMI at Hampden-Sydney and Davidson at Catawba Wednesday night; West Virginia, home to Duke and Furman home to Newberry Thursday night; George Washington at Georgetown, The Citadel home to Washington and Lee, Virginia against West Virginia at Charleston, W. Va., and Furman home to Georgia Tech, Saturday night.

Pricer May Play In Title Contest

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Fullback Billy Pricer of the Baltimore Colts has one leg encased in a cast, but he may be ready to play in the National Football League's championship game Dec. 28.

Gen. Mgr. Don Kellert gave the encouraging information on the reserve fullback after the club returned to its training base here yesterday. Pricer was injured Saturday when the Colts, Western Conference champions of the NFL, lost to the Los Angeles Rams 30-28.

"Although it is only a torn ligament, the doctors felt they should immobilize the knee for 10 days," Pricer said. "Dr. McDonnell (E.J. McDonnell, team physician) will look at it when we get home and I hope I will be able to start therapy immediately."

Pricer was the only serious casualty in last Saturday's game. The Colts have one more game, at San Francisco next Sunday, before the title contest against either Cleveland or New York.

Howell Joins Bisons
BUFFALO (UPI)—Ron Howell, who scored two touchdowns for Hamilton in Canada's Grey Cup football game, has joined the Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Howell, a forward, is the younger brother of New York Ranger defenseman Harry Howell.

Bobcats Open Home Slate; South Hills Drubs LaSalle

Frostburg State Teachers College will make its home basketball debut tonight and the local LaSalle hoopsters will have a week's rest following their second straight defeat yesterday.

The Bobcats, who lost to Potomac State, 77-67, in their liftdier last Wednesday, will be host to Shippensburg (Pa.) State Teachers in the Mountain City tonight.

The Bobcats and Keystone State quint split last season's pair of games, Frostburg bagging a 78-70 decision at home and losing by 79-73 at Shippensburg. The contest is the only one listed in the area tonight.

LaSalle High's dribblers were handed their second straight lopsided defeat yesterday when South Hills of Pittsburgh rapped the Explorers, 83-55, on the SS. Peter and Paul boards. LaSalle had been drubbed, 63-36, by Valley Saturday night.

The Pennsylvanians, a new school with a lineup of sophomores and juniors, raked the nets for 33 goals and added 17 of 26 free throws for their 31-point triumph. The Explorers, who had whipped the invaders, 57-20, last winter, were able to get only 17 two-pointers while hoping 21 of 32 penalty tosses.

Four South Hills cagers bit in the double figures with Kyle pacing the attack on eight fielders and three foul losses for 19 markers. McGroarty shoved in 15 counters, Quinn added 14 and Doherty finished with 10 points.

Blake was the top point-maker for the Explorers with five goals and as many foul tosses for 15 tallies. Jim Tennant had 10 markers and Mickey Scalletta eight.

LaSalle lost two players on fouls, center Mike Mackert making his exit with 3:20 to go in the second period and Scalletta leaving with 4:30 to go in the final half.

The Explorers, who won over Fort Ashby, 71-68, in their opener last week, will be idle until next Monday when meeting Fort Hill in the first intra-city contest on the Hilltoppers' court.

Faked Punt, Blocked Kick Help Giants

DETROIT (AP) — A blocked kick and a fake punt have carried the New York Giants into a head-to-head battle for the Eastern Conference championship of the National Football League.

Harland Sware blocked a field goal attempt with 73 seconds to play Sunday and saved the Giants' 19-17 victory over the Detroit Lions.

The fake kick came early in the final period when the Lions were leading 17-12. They elected to gamble on fourth down. The run from punt formation fizzled and the Giants, 1958 world champions, moved for a TD and a 19-17 lead.

Despite the backfire, the Lions threatened to knock the Giants out of contention. Jim Martin had a perfect shot at a 25-yard field goal for the three points that would have given Cleveland the undisputed title.

But Sware, a 27-year-old line-backer from Washington State, barreled through and got his left hand on the ball. A New York player fell on the ball and the Giants walked through the remaining seconds.

Sware explained the blocked kick: "Three of us worked it out," he said. "Carl Karilivacz was to take out Roger Zatkoff, Andy Robustelli was to get Jerry Perry, and I was to shoot through the opening and go for the kicker. It worked out just that way. This was the biggest play of my career."

Detroit Coach George Wilson said he ordered the fourth-down gamble that boomeranged.

The Lions needed 2 yards for a first down, and had possession on their own 43. Yale Lary took the snap in punt formation, but tried to circle end. He was driven out of bounds after a two-yard pickup.

Five plays later, after Charlie Conerly passed 35 yards to Bob Schnepker, the Giants scored.

"I called the play," said Wilson. "I saw the Giants were open. This same play has worked three times for us in the past. It's one of those things. Either it works or it doesn't. So I'm a bum."

Van Buren Roots For Jim Brown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cleveland's Jim Brown already has broken Steve Van Buren's National Football League season rushing record.

And the former Philadelphia Eagle doesn't mind if Brown topples his season touchdown mark. Prior to Sunday's Eagle-Browns game, Van Buren so told Brown with some reservations.

Brown got 138 yards rushing as the Browns won 21-14. He now has 1,379 against Van Buren's 1949 record of 1146. But Brown didn't get the score he needed to tie Van Buren's 1945 record of 18 TDs.

"He said he hoped I'd get two touchdowns and beat the record," Brown said, reporting his conversation with Van Buren.

With a grin, Brown continued: "Then Steve added he was figuring the Eagles would get at least four touchdowns."

Kentucky, Kansas State, WVU In Big Tests

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Kentucky, Kansas State and West Virginia have all gotten their feet wet but they take the real plunge this week in a back-breaking schedule that should reveal whether the three top powers will sink or swim this season.

Kentucky's NCAA champions, who licked a tough Temple team, 76-71, Saturday night for their second straight triumph, meet three of the country's toughest customers this week, starting with Duke at Durham, N.C., tonight. The Wildcats, who meet Southern Methodist on Thursday and always-formidable St. Louis on Saturday.

Kansas State, ranked second only to Cincinnati in the pre-season ratings, may have its work cut out on the West Coast where it faces California on Friday and San Francisco the following night. Even on its own court, K-State was pressed all the way before downing Indiana, 82-79, in overtime last Saturday.

It won't be easy pickings this week, either, for West Virginia's defending national champions.

WVU Faces Test
The Mountaineers, winners of 26 out of 28 last year, ran their current season record to three straight victories with a 78-63 win over Penn State but they'll have to get by Duke as well as The Citadel and Virginia within the next seven days.

Third-ranked Notre Dame, idle during the weekend, gets back into action against Northwestern tonight and has a date with Wisconsin next Saturday. Northwestern rolled to its second straight victory by defeating 11th-ranked Maryland, 66-62, Saturday, so the Irish could have trouble.

Top-ranked Cincinnati is one of the few clubs among the nation's leaders which has a light schedule this week. The Bearcats play only once this week and they'll be heavily favored to register their third straight win at the expense of Marshall College on Saturday.

Huskies Drop Two
Washington, which was reputed to be the strongest team in the Northwest, was the only casualty among the big fellows during the week end. The sixth-ranked Huskies dropped two in a row to Colorado.

Elsewhere around the country, however, the teams fared more or less as expected.

North Carolina State made it three in a row even though it had to go into overtime to beat Wake Forest, 66-62, while Kansas didn't seem to miss Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain as it coasted to a 75-54 decision over a green Canisius team. With Wilt gone, Ron Loneski is the Jayhawkers' kingpin. He netted 30 points against Canisius.

St. Louis, hoping to give Cincinnati a tussle for the Missouri Valley Conference crown, had no trouble with Georgia Tech, 71-57, while fifth-ranked Michigan State reeled off 51 points in the first half to drub Detroit, 68-51.

In the Southwest, Arkansas defeated Oklahoma, 61-52; Southern Methodist stopped Iowa, 65-55, and Rice mauled Wisconsin, 78-37. Other scores:

East — St. Francis (Pa.) 58, Duquesne 56; Connecticut 60, Yale 52; Fordham 86, Rhode Island 56.
South — Western Kentucky 79, New Mexico A & M 60; Tulane 85, Birmingham Southern 78; William & Mary 57, George Washington 52.

ACC Appears Tough Baby This Season

By The Associated Press

Although only one week old, the basketball season in the Atlantic Coast Conference appears to be a mighty tough baby.

So far, there have been four conference games, involving six of the ACC's eight teams. The victory margins were 16, 2, 1 and 4 (in double-overtime) points.

North Carolina State, a perennial powerhouse, currently is leading the league with two victories—56-52 over Wake Forest after two extra periods Saturday and 55-53 over Maryland. North Carolina is in second place with an 83-67 triumph over Clemson, which is third after a 56-55 victory over Duke.

Maryland (No. 6 in the nation last season), Duke (No. 10) and Wake Forest haven't scratched the ACC win column and neither Virginia nor South Carolina has tasted conference competition.

Virginia will sample the league tonight at North Carolina, but South Carolina waits until next Monday for ACC action.

The N. C. State—Wake Forest thriller was the only conference game of the weekend. But two ACC members met and bowed to outside competition, Maryland losing to Northwestern 66-62 and Virginia falling to Richmond 72-66.

In addition to the Virginia-North Carolina tilt tonight, Duke's host to Kentucky (ranked 9th nationally last year).

Other games this week:

Tuesday—N. C. State at Clemson; Wake Forest at Tennessee.

Wednesday—Virginia at Maryland; Wake Forest at Wake Forest; Duke at West Virginia; Clemson in Steel Bowl tournament at Pittsburgh.

Thursday—Clemson in Steel Bowl tournament.

Saturday—Georgia at South Carolina; Virginia vs. West Virginia at Charleston, W. Va.

Wageley's Cops Touch Crown In Overtime, 14-13

It took an overtime before Wageley's Clowns finally won the Adult Touch Football League championship yesterday at Post Field by edging Old Exports, 14-13.

The regulation game ended in a 13-13 deadlock and the Clowns won the overtime battle by outscoring the Old Exports in total yardage. Each team gained 40 yards in four downs and in the second series of downs Wageley's outgained the opposition 42 to 10 yards to bag the decision.

The Clowns took a 13-0 lead in the second period when Roy Manges passed 10 yards to Clarence "Pooch" Lewis in the end zone and Manges ran six yards for the second touchdown. Roy passed to Lewis for the extra point.

A 35-yard pass play executed by George McGregor and Bill Eckard gave the Old Exports a touchdown in the second period. They knotted the score in the last quarter when McGregor passed 20 yards to Fred Meeks for the TD and Jerry Meeks snared McGregor's aerial for the extra point.

Wageley's team completed the season with a 9-0 record. The Clowns won the National Division title with a 6-0 mark while the Exports (6-0) capped the American Division title and were 7-0 going into the championship battle.

Wesleyan's Cagers Lead WVIC Race

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Alderson-Broadus' sophomore dominated squad attempts to get back into the West Virginia Conference basketball race with a visit to Shepherd tonight in the high light of a four-game schedule.

Meanwhile, Salem opens its 1958-59 card by entertaining West Liberty, Wilberforce, Ohio, is at West Virginia State and Waynesburg, Pa., at Wheeling.

Wesleyan Leads

Wesleyan led the league under its rating system with 106.7 points after the first week of the new campaign. Defending champion West Virginia Tech and Fairmont followed with 105 points each.

Davis & Elkins and Morris Harvey had 100 points each, followed by Alderson-Broadus with 73.3. Bluefield State 55 and West Virginia State 33.3.

Secretary George Springer said other league teams had no points.

D&E, idle until Wednesday, could move far out in front in the title chase if it wins all three scheduled games this week. Wesleyan has only one loop scrap, but it is with tough Morris Harvey Saturday night at Buckhannon.

Tech meets Glenville at Montgomery Wednesday night and Fairmont entertains West Liberty Tuesday night.

Both Stay Unbeaten

Wesleyan and Bethany remained the only unbeaten WVIC teams Saturday night.

The Bobcats beat Beckley 102-82 for their fifth straight win and Bethany trounced Thiel, Pa., 74-49.

Meanwhile, D&E trimmed Glenville 86-70, Bluefield State edged A-B 77-65, Tech nipped Loyola, Md., 73-68, West Virginia's freshmen dumped Potomac State 90-67, Steubenville, Ohio, downed West Liberty 78-40 and Ohio University wallowed Morris Harvey 118-69 in a surprising show of strength.

The remaining week's schedule:

Tuesday—West Liberty at Fairmont; Beckley at Morris Harvey.

Wednesday—Salem at D&E; Glenville at Tech; Bethany at Wheeling; Central State, Ohio, at Wesleyan; Rio Grande, Ohio, at West Virginia State.

Friday—Morris Harvey at Glenville; D&E at Fairmont; Concord at A-B; West Virginia State at Bluefield State; Altoona, Pa., at Potomac; Marietta, Ohio, at Wesleyan; Bethany at John Carroll, Ohio.

Italy had clinched an interzone final berth against the United States by taking a 3-0 lead in Sunday's doubles victory.

Pietrangeli defeated Miguel Dango 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 and Merlo beat Juan Jose 6-2, 7-5, 6-1 for the sweep.

The U.S.-Italy match will be played at Perth Dec. 10-21. The winner then challenges Australia.

The Warriors, battling to stay out of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division cellar broke a close game with the Cincinnati Royals wide open in the third period for a 103-90 victory that left them in a tie for third place with the Syracuse Nationals.

With the Royals on top, 63-57, midway through the period, Philadelphia spurred for 18 straight points without a return by Cincinnati, and Arizona, who had 26 points in all, contributed nine of the points in the rally.

The Nationals kept from slipping into the cellar by upsetting the Boston Celtics, 108-104. Larry Costello dropped in seven points within a span of one and one-half minutes in the final period to provide the Nats with most of their margin of victory.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — A good day for practical and useful, also delicate and artistic matters. Your personal attitude and how you present yourself to things generally is important to success, however. Simple matters may require more attention than difficult ones.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Fine influences for a self-sufficient person. You can add income and salary to things you do, and give them a new boost, greater impetus. Show others the way to bigger achievement, too.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — This can be a responsive, productive day, especially if you control your emotions and are careful not to let financial matters, maintain a realistic viewpoint in all things.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — Building, manufacturing, handling produce and items for the table and personal use under benefic rays. Don't shirk duties and be considerate of others.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo) — Since not too much planetary help is available now, you will have to depend on your own impetus. However, you can make headway. Avoid contention and you will gain benefits more quickly.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo) — Avail yourself of benefic offerings. While aspects are not particularly stimulating, work, laborious tasks, household matters and industry are honored.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra) — Teaching, nursing, entertaining, domestic interests and special service work among highly sponsored activities. Be careful in money matters, and do control your emotions.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio) — This should be a prosperous, fruitful period for your work and other interests. Be cautious in spending, however, and don't become discouraged over minor obstacles.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Organizational work, economics, dealing in useful commodities, scientific discoveries, acquiring new methods and implements among highly stimulated activities. Note important trends. You can make this a big day!

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn) — You can further your goals now by making the best use of your talents and capabilities. You can also benefit through the influence of others, the obviousness of which seems almost unbelievable.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius) — You have talent and ability but may tend to be lackadaisical in effort now unless you push yourself forward. Today has unusually good advantages; seek them out diligently.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces) — Without force and emotional strain, you can accomplish a great deal on this mixed but, for the most part, encouraging day. Don't fret over "extraordinary" demands made upon you. You can meet them easily if you remain calm.

YOU, BORN TODAY: Frankness, versatility, application and unusual ideas are among your many fine assets. However, use your innate good judgment in all things. Don't let others put you in your sympathies to the point where you are misled. Always direct your great energy along productive lines. Keep studying, improving, but, at the same time, take care of your health. Birthdate: John Milton, (famed poet).

spade contract was doubtful to say the least.

"East took his ace of hearts and continued with the queen. I won with my king and played the four of spades. West played the seven and I had my first problem. Who held the king of spades? I finally decided that East did so I played dummy's nine.

"East won with the jack and led another heart which I trumped in dummy. Now I had my second and last problem. Was East left with the singleton king of spades or the king-deuce? "I had a little help in making this decision. West was an old opponent who never would waste a seven spot when he could play a deuce. Hence East surely held the deuce of spades. I led dummy's queen; East covered with the king; my ace smothered West's ten and my eight was good. I still had to lose to the ace of diamonds, but that did not matter."

Bituminous Coal Output To Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bituminous coal production in the United States is expected to rise to 45,000,000 tons in 1939, an increase of 13.8 per cent over the 39,000,000 tons of 1938, according to the National Coal Assn. said today.

The association's committee on coal economics and statistics predicted that coal consumption would increase 8.1 per cent to equal production. The committee said more coal was used than produced this year as many consumers reduced supplies accumulated previously.

It was estimated that electric utilities would consume some 13,000,000 tons and the steel industry 105,000,000 tons of coking coal in 1939.

The committee also forecast that the retail market would take 30,000,000 tons of coal next year, 3.8 per cent less than this year's total but a smaller decline than most postwar years.

Garrett's kill for the six days was 878 and Allegany was next with 583. Totals dropped off sharply from there, with the other counties strung out like this:

One of the season's largest kills came on the final day. Harold Wilson of Rock Hall brought down a deer in Kent County that weighed 225 gutted.

Washington County's 310 killed was an all-time record, topping the 1937 figure of 289, the previous record.
